Boat Company FAQs (Frequently Asked Questions)

How do I pay for my trip? Does the Boat Company accept credit cards?
The Boat Company accepts Visa, MasterCard and American Express. Deposits may be made without a surcharge but later payments will include a 4% convenience fee.

Are there any other additional costs?
- Roundtrip airfare to Alaska
- Travel insurance
- Possible fuel surcharge
- Tipping/Gratuities
- Shipping fish home

Tipping/Gratuities: what’s the “right” amount and how is it usually handled?
Recognition for exceptional service is entirely at your discretion. Guests who wish to tip usually give the Captain about 10% - 15% of the cost of the cruise from each person in their party at the end of their trip (check or credit card). Tips are pooled and shared by all crewmembers. Let your satisfaction with our service be your guide.

Trip insurance – is it worth the extra cost?
You’ve spent a lot of time and effort planning your trip to Alaska. Unforeseen circumstances could spoil your ‘once-in-a-lifetime’ adventure. Travel insurance can cover a number of contingencies and provide peace of mind.

I’d like to bring my kids or grandkids – do you provide child-care?
We do not offer separate babysitting services – however, the crew is skilled at including kids in all the activities and in tailoring hikes, fishing and wildlife to their level.

What kind of clothes do I bring? Will I need to ‘dress’ for dinner?
We are very casual (see our “Packing Suggestions”) – the emphasis is on layers as the weather is variable.

Do I really need rubber boots and rain gear?
Yes! In a temperate rain forest rain is possible year-round. A lightweight waterproof shell and rain pants, layered over pants, shirt and jacket, will ensure your comfort during the many off-boat activities we offer. Rubber boots are essential on these trips, especially since the trails can be quite wet and muddy. It is not uncommon to be in up to your ankles in mud or cross small streams on some of our hikes. Some guests forgo hiking boots altogether and stick with rubber boots with an extra pair of wool socks for cushioning.

What’s the best kind of luggage to bring?
Space is limited onboard – we recommend 1 or 2 large soft-sided pieces (like rolling duffel bags) per person.

What will the weather be like?
Alaska’s Inside Passage is a temperate rain forest. Rainfall averages about 3½“ during May and June, trending upward to 7½” in September. Temperatures average in the mid-60s during the day and mid-40s at night, but range from 80s to 30s—layers are the key to comfort! Bring a light daypack so you may shed a nd add layers when off the boat.

What about bugs – do I need to bring bug spray?
Biting insects are not as prevalent in the Inside Passage and peak in July. Pack your preferred brand of insect repellent and we will also have a variety of sprays, lotions and creams aboard.

Can special diets be accommodated?
Our chefs can accommodate vegetarian, pescatarian, gluten-free and child friendly diets. Use the Passenger Registration form to inform us of any allergies or dietary requirements.

Can we celebrate a special occasion aboard?
Yes. Just let us know before you embark and the crew will be ready to help you celebrate in style.

Should I worry about seasickness?
You’ll be traveling on the sheltered waters of the inside passage; and sleep at anchor each night. If you are prone to motion sickness, it’s best to consult your physician beforehand and choose either a prescription or OTC remedy.

What amenities does the Boat Company provide in my cabin?
Your cabin is ‘move-in’ ready with an ensuite bathroom with toilet, stall shower, shampoo, conditioner, soap, hair dryer, 110-volt outlets, a flashlight and a pair of high-power binoculars for wildlife viewing.
Is there Wi-Fi or telephone available?
Our boats carry communications gear to conduct official ship business and to ensure your safety, but we do not have phones or Internet access for guests. Your cell phone or a laptop equipped with a cellular wireless card may get intermittent service. AT&T has the best coverage – Verizon, not so much.

Is there television aboard?
There is an entertainment center with a TV-DVD unit in the main salon – for viewing movies and naturalist presentations – but broadcast reception is unavailable.

Do you provide laundry service during the trip?
No, but the ship’s drying locker may be used to dry your wet clothes. See Packing Suggestions for tips on planning.

Is the tap water in my stateroom safe to drink?
All the tap water aboard is ‘potable’ – fresh from our reverse-osmosis water makers.

What kind of medical care is available onboard?
We do not have a doctor or nurse onboard, but all crew are current on first-aid, CPR and use of an onboard defibrillator. Each ship carries oxygen for emergency use. Captains can arrange emergency medical evacuation as well as Med-Link remote communication with a physician. We recommend that you carry your regular medications in your hand luggage - including extra supplies to cover any unexpected circumstances or travel delays. If you have received treatment for any significant medical condition, please carry a recent report along with any pertinent information from your physician. We also urge you to review your health insurance coverage before your trip. We strongly recommend that you secure travel protection.

Will we see the Northern Lights? Not likely; the summer nights don’t get dark enough, there is often a lot of cloud cover, and we won’t be quite far enough north.

Will we see glaciers?
We usually always visit the glaciers south of Juneau. Weather permitting - the crew will even take you in for a closer look by skiff.

What kind of wildlife will we see?
Brown and black bear throughout the summer – stream fishing in fall. Dolphins and whales – especially humpbacks – abound; we’ll call all hands on deck when they are spotted. Orca (killer whales) and sea otter are less common but also present. Seals on ice floes with new pups as we travel up Tracy Arm to view glaciers, and we usually visit a sea lion rookery each trip. Deer, of course, and different kinds of birds – notably bald eagles, hawks and other raptors - may be observed on hikes or along the shore when at anchor.

Is smoking permitted onboard?
Smoking is not permitted anywhere indoors but is allowed on deck in a special designated area – downwind of other guests.

I’ve heard that Marijuana is legal in Alaska – may I bring Marijuana products on the cruise?
The short answer is No – while the State of Alaska has legalized recreational and medical Marijuana - and you may see stores selling it in Juneau and Sitka – Boat Company vessels are under federal jurisdiction and will not allow Marijuana or any illegal drugs or drug paraphernalia aboard.

Who will my fellow passengers be?
Boat company passengers hail from all over the world – though predominantly from North America – and are generally easygoing, adventurous and curious about the Tongass National Forest and its conservation. More than 70% each year are either returning guests or have been referred by previous passengers. We work hard to create congenial groups on each trip and can give you an overview of the others who will be traveling with you.

I’m not much of a “joiner” – do I have to participate?
There are no required activities. You may happily spend your entire trip curled up in the salon with a good book – or watch it all go by from a chair up on the skiff deck; while sipping coffee or a chilled glass of wine. The crew will meet daily with guests - to advise you on hiking, kayaking, fishing and wildlife viewing opportunities. You are free to choose.

I don’t know anything about fishing – will someone help me?
Yes - our deckhand/guides are happy to help novices. They’ll get you started, but their primary job while ashore in bear country is to ensure group safety, so this won’t allow for prolonged one-on-one individual attention. See our Fishing FAQs for additional information.

Can I bring the fish I caught in Alaska home with me?
Yes! The crew will clean; fillet and vacuum seal your fish before stowing it in the walk in freezer on board. At the end of your trip, they will pack your catch in an insulated easy to carry box for your flight home. If you would rather not take it with you as luggage, the crew can also help arrange to have it shipped. The cost of shipping is additional.
